Sawtooth National Recreation Area

Last Updated: 6/26/2024

General Update: Expect all divides and passes to be snow covered unless otherwise noted. Lakes above 8800 feet are likely to have snow and ice. Be prepared for high creek crossings, travel across snow over passes and divides (microspikes or crampons recommended), and downed trees. Snow line in the Sawtooths is at approximately 9,000 ft with patchy snow at lower elevations depending on aspect. Snow line in the White Clouds is approximately 9,400 ft with patchy snow above 9,000 feet depending on aspect.
