

TRAILS
SIERRA ANCHA WILDERNESS

There is a network of “system” trails serving the Sierra Ancha Wilderness Area and contiguous areas. Their condition varies from satisfactory to very poor. All trails are closed to motor vehicles and mechanical transport such as bikes.

Use a great deal of caution when traveling on backcountry trails such as this one and be aware of the risks you assume.

A few brief comments are in order about the following trail:

Moody Point 139: 9.5 miles in length. This trail is the longest and one of the most difficult trails in this Wilderness. There is some major elevation change on this trail, and it may be indistinct and difficult to follow in some places. West-to-east (downhill) travel is recommended. Travelers may not be able to cross Cherry Creek during high water levels. Elevation: 3000 - 7200 feet. Difficulty level: Most Difficult. Use level: Very light. Restrictions: Closed to all motorized equipment, bike or other mechanical transport. Trailheads: Moody Point TH, Leisure Canyon TH.

No more than 15 people are allowed to be in a group. No more than 15 head of livestock are allowed in a group.
