WATERFALLS: Fatal Attractions

Getting too close to a waterfall is dangerous. Wet rocks are slick, and a slip above a waterfall can kill you. Stay on the trail. Avoid shortcuts, climbing on rocks or walking on plants near the trail.

CAMPING OPPORTUNITIES

Van Hook Glade Campground: Open April to October, 20 sites. Off U.S. 64 in Cullasaja Gorge, 4.3 miles west of Highlands. To make reservations, call 877-444-6777 (toll free) or go to recreation.gov.

Appletree Group Campground: Open April to October, four group sites. Hiking and fishing opportunities. Three nearby trails: Appletree, Bartram and London Bald trails. Located 2.5 miles off SR 1310 on SR 1401. By reservation only; call the Nantahala District Office at 828-524-6441.

Standing Indian Campground: Open April to October. Offers 84 campsites. Take U.S. 64W, turn left on old U.S. 64W and follow signs. To make reservations, call 877-444-6777 or go to recreation.gov.

FOREST MANAGEMENT AT WORK

The byway mainly travels through the Nantahala National Forest. National forests are managed for many uses: recreation, timber, wildlife, water and more. At overlooks, you may see signs of forest management.

DRIVE WITH CAUTION

Parts of the byway are narrow and curvy. Please stay in your lane and drive cautiously. During the winter, occasional snow and ice may require the use of tire chains or four-wheel-drive vehicles.

The Mountain Waters Scenic Byway is a 61.3-mile drive that winds through the Nantahala National Forest's two river gorges, hardwood forests and countryside. Traveling from Highlands to Almond, the byway follows U.S. 64, old U.S. 64, SR 1310 (Wayah Road), and U.S. 19/74. Here is a sample of byway attractions:

CULLASAJA GORGE

The first 7.5 miles of the byway travels through the Cullasaja Gorge. The winding road parallels the Cullasaja River and offers spectacular views of the river, which boasts several waterfalls and many fishing opportunities.

Rafters ride the rolling waters of the Nantahala River.

BRIDAL VEIL FALLS

This often-photographed site is 1.2 miles west of Highlands on U.S. 64. You can drive by the "veil" of water falling from 120 feet. Parking is nearby.

DRY FALLS

You'll find this 75-foot beauty 2.1 miles west of Highlands on U.S. 64. From the parking lot, a trail with steps leads you right behind the waterfall.

CLIFFSIDE LAKE & VAN HOOK GLADE

This recreation area is 4.4 miles west of Highlands and then 1.5 miles off U.S. 64. The area offers a picturesque lake that is popular for swimming and fishing, a historic bathhouse with cold showers, and many shady picnic spots. Offering 20 campsites, Van Hook Glade Campground is nearby. Hikers can stretch their legs on one of seven short trails. Choose the easy 0.75-mile loop that circles the lake or enjoy the view along the moderate 1.5-mile Clifftop Vista Trail. At the top is a gazebo built in the 1930s by the Civilian Conservation Corps.

WAYAH CREEK & PICNIC AREAS

West of Franklin, the byway turns right on Old Murphy Road, then left on SR 1310. SR 1310 (Wayah Road) parallels much of Wayah Creek. This six-mile creek is a good fishing stream, but most of the streamside is private land and is posted "no trespassing." Along Wayah Creek is the Arrowood Glade Picnic Area, which offers seven tables and a picnic shelter.

RUFUS MORGAN TRAIL

This one-mile loop trail winds through mature hardwood forest to a waterfall. From SR 1310 (6.6 miles west of U.S. 64) turn left on FR 388 (Boardtree Road) and drive 2.2 miles to the trailhead.

WAYAH BALD

A side trip to Wayah Bald is well worth the effort. From Wayah Gap, journey 1.3 miles up gravel Forest Road 69 and see the Wilson Lick Ranger Station. Built about 1913, Wilson Lick is the first ranger station in the Nantahala National Forest. Continue another 3.2 miles up FR 69 to Wayah Bald. Take the short, paved trail to the historic Wayah Bald Fire Tower. The tower offers a great view of the Appalachian Mountains in Georgia, Tennessee and both Carolinas. Picnic nearby at the Wayah Bald Picnic Area or hike two long-distance trails, the Appalachian and Bartram Trails, which cross the bald at the tower.

NANTAHALA LAKE

Located about six miles west of Wayah Gap, this lake has 29 miles of shoreline and offers fishing, and boating. Boat ramps are available.

NANTAHALA RIVER FISHING

This mountain river offers great trout fishing in its upper and lower reaches. The stretch of river above the powerhouse has great catch-and-release fishing from spring until early summer.

NANTAHALA RIVER GORGE

Every year the Nantahala River draws more than 250,000 boaters who enjoy whitewater rafting, canoeing and kayaking. Many begin their trip from the river's launch site at the start of the 8.5-mile whitewater run, where changing rooms and flush toilets are available. About 2.75 miles downriver is the Ferebee Memorial Picnic Area, which offers another launch and take-out area. At the Nantahala River's lower end, two commercial-only take-outs and a public take-out are provided. Outfitters plan trips to fit all skill levels and rent equipment for every whitewater adventure.
