

A Day Working at a National Forest

DIRECTIONS: Help the forest specialist navigate a day at work! Start in the Forest Service truck and choose what to do next.

You didn't bring enough water. What's the best choice?

Keep going and hope you'll be okay.

Go back to the truck and grab your water bottle.

You get out of the truck at a trailhead. Someone asks for directions. What do you do?

Help them find the right trail.

Ignore them.

You see a stone tool or pottery sherd.

Leave it and take a picture for the forest archaeologist.

Bring it back to the ranger station to display on your desk.

The trail sign is damaged, but you know the right way.

Ignore it and keep hiking.

Repair the sign to help others stay on the trail.

GREAT JOB
caring for the land and serving people!
